

Changes on the New Applications | FAMI-QS First Time Right Initiative

In the framework of supporting the new applicant organisations in the familiarisation and understanding of the FAMI-QS certification system, the FAMI-QS Secretariat, upon approval of the Board of Directors, launched its new First Time Right initiative.

Through the 'First Time Right' initiative, starting from 2022, new applicant organisations will be offered free of charge two distinct trainings.

- FAMI-QS Certification Procedure & Accredited Certification: to understand how feed safety management system certification works and the value of the accreditation
- FAMI-QS Certification System Version 6: to understand the requirements of the FAMI-QS Certification System

New members will receive detailed information from the FAMI-QS Secretariat upon approval of their application.

Both trainings are mandatory for all new members and are provided at no extra cost. Each organisation can select one representative to attend these trainings. Upon completion, attendees will receive all the training materials to be able to pass on the training to their colleagues. Attainment of a certificate of completion will be a compliance requirement for new members.
